PARKS CALLS BIGGER STRIKE.

SAYS JRON LEAGUE JOBS MUST STOP EVERYWHERE

Till the Bosses' Arbitration Agreement Is Broken as to Iron Workers-Thousands of Men in Many Cities to Quit Work While Parks Rides in a Cab.

If the plans outlined by Sam Parks at the weekly meeting of the Housesmiths and Bridgemen's Union last night are carried out to-day by the International Association of Bridgemen and Structural Iron Workers, strikes will be declared this morning in every part of the United States where members of the Iron League are engaged

The decision made by the Housesmiths' by far the most ambitious that the iron to their officers, the throwing out of employment to-day of thousands of men in almost every city in the United States and the cessation of all work by union under the wire two and one-half lengths men on scores of important contracts.

When Sam Parks was asked last night the had any reason to believe that the International association's president, Frank Buchanan, would refuse to carry out the plan of the Housesmiths' Union, he said that the international association had agreed in the afternoon to carry out a national strike, providing the Housesmiths' Union passed a resolution demanding such action.

The decision reached last night does not mean that there is to be a strike on materials manufactured by the firms which he union is endeavoring to bring to terms. These firms are J. M. Cornell & Co., Cooper & Wiegand and Milliken Brothers. They are the principal firms in the Iron League | the weather perfect. and Parks declared last night that even if he goes to jail he will continue the fight on them until they surrender.

A fight on the materials turned out by these concerns would be an even more serious thing than the strike, which is to be ordered to-day. It would mean that union men would not be allowed to handle any of the output of these foundries. This move is to be made if the general strike order on the contracts of the three firms mentioned does not have the desired effect.

Parks said last night that no one but a fool would play all his cards at once and that the materials strike was a little argument that he meant to hold up his sleeve until it became necessary to use it.

The contention of the union is that the iron League, by entering with the employers' association on a scheme of arbitration which the employers have been trying to force on the union, has violated the agreement it made with the Housesmiths' Union last April.

The union, or rather Sam Parks, declares that the Iron League must repudiate the plan of arbitration offered by the employers' association, and must come to an agreement with the ironworkers on terms aid down by Parks.

Facks absolutely dominated last night's meeting. If there is any opposition to his man, who is now on trial before Reunder conviction for assault and against he offered his resolution to the union last night, demanding a general strike all over he country, he was cheered uproariously. ONE MILE IN 1:37 2-5.

Dick Welles Breaks the World's Record t a Match With Grand Opera.

CHICAGO, Aug. 14.—Dick Welles, the speed marvel of the West, won the special match race with E. E. Smathers's Grand Opera at Harlem to-day, and in doing so set a new world's record for one mile, his time being 1:37 2-5, which is one-fifth of a second faster than the record made by Alan-a-Dale at Washington Park.

The race did not amount to much as a contest, as Grand Opera was at no time near the son of King Eric-Tea's Over, who won in a common canter. It was the universal opinion of turfmen who saw the race that Dick Welles could have run the mile in 1:37 had he been extended. There was no delay at the post. Grand Opera had about half a length the better Union last night at Parks's dictation is of the start, but in three jumps Dick Welles was in front and took the rail at the first workers have ventured upon since they turn. He opened up a gap of two lengths began their fight. It means, according at the far turn and maintained this advantage all the way to the stretch turn, where he increased the lead to five lengths. From there home he was eased and passed in front of Grand Opera and only jogging. After Jockey Knight dismounted from the winner it was discovered that Dick Welles had finished with no bit in his mouth, it having broken squarely in two and dropped out of the colt's mouth. There was nothing for Knight to hold except the headstall. The betting on the race was very heavy. Dick Welles opened at even money, but was backed to 9 to 10. The fractional time of the race by quarters is as follows: First, 0:24 1-5; second, 0:48; third, 1:12 3-5;

> one mile, 1:37 2-5. The special race drew out an immense crowd, there being fully 10,000 persons on the ground, and they were royally entertained. The track was lightning fast and

FINANCE TALK AT OYSTER BAY

REPUBLICAN OFFICIALS AND J. G. CARLISLE SEE THE PRESIDENT.

Proposed That Customs Receipts Be Deposited in National Banks-Edward Lauterbach, Littauer's Counsel, One of the Callers on the President.

OYSTER BAY, Aug. 14.—The subject of proposed financial legislation, which has engaged the President's attention for two days now, was up for further consideration at Sagamore Hill to-day, when Secretary Shaw, Comptroller of the Currency Ridgely, Senator Cullom of Illinois and John G. Carlisle, Secretary of the Treasury in President Cleveland's second administration, visited Mr. Roosevelt. Nothing like a formal conference, however, was heid. The President saw each man separately and talked with him about the general propositions which the sub-committee of the Senate Finance Committee is said to have formulated, tentatively, as a result of the sub-committee's study and investigation.

Secretary Shaw came at 10 o'clock in the morning and was with the President only about an hour. Mr. Ridgely and Senator Cullom got here on the noon train, and they went away just as Mr. Carlisle came in late in the afternoon.

None of the guests who were here to discuss financial legislation cared to say much about his talk with the President. Secretary Shaw refused to say anything about the proposed measure, or to talk about the conditions that are prompting the efforts to draft it.

One of the visitors, however, who requested that his name should not be used, asserted that at present there is only one proposition that those interested in framthe banks depositing Government bonds as security. Everybody with whom the President has conferred on the subject has, this man said, approved of this proposi-

But some immediately interested in the preparation of the measure, the informant said, suggest that other security besides Government bonds be accepted for the deposit of the customs money in the banks, municipal bonds, for instance, that are approved by the Treasury Department.

This suggestion, he declared, is meeting strong opposition, and will not be embedded in the proposed bill.

Senator Cullom was pessimistic about the outlook for financial legislation. He thought that the general conditions were such that some change in the currency laws was needed, but he doubted whether, if any radical attempt were made to remedy matters, the result would be satisfactory or matters, the result would be satisfactory or beneficial to the country at large.

"The President," he said, after his re-turn from Sagamore Hill, "is not wedded to any particular plan of financial legis-lation. He wants something done that will provide in as conservative a way as possible for the expansion of the currency more freely than now, when the occasion demands, and for its contraction after the necessity is over. He wants this ac-complished by legislation that is brief and concise. He does not want an elaborate He does not want an elaborate currency bill.

Senator Cullom said that he was strongly

He thought that the sooner Congress passed the measure making operative the Cuban reciprocity treaty the better it would be for both this country and Cuba. He anticipated considerable opposition to the legislation, he said, but hoped to see it go through soon after the session

The presence of ex-Secretary Carlisle at Sagamore Hill was, it is said, the first step in the President's plan to have a measure that will appeal to Democrats as well as Republicans and commend itself popular support rather than party

Other guests to-day were Secretary Hitchcock of the Department of the Interior, T. E. Byrnes of Minneapolis, who was sergeant-at-arms at the St. Louis National Convention; D. L. Flynn, formerly delegate in Congress from Oklahoma; Bislop Frederick Z. Hooker, at one time secretary to the Apostolic Delegation in Washington, who is one of the four American Bishops selected by the Catholic Church to go to the Philippines; Edward Lauterbach of New York and J. Lauterbach, who is Congressman Littauer's counsel, was, it is thought, also here to have a talk about the army glove contracts, but he said that he came to urge the President to attend the installation of Prof. John H. Finley as president of the College of the City of New York, late in September. Grover Cleveland has already accepted an invitation to be present.

Mr. Byrnes, Mr. Flynn, Bishop Hooker and Mr. Bishop visited the Fresident to pay their respects.

It came out here to-day that considerable opposition has sprung up to the idea of calling the special session earlier than Nov. 9. A good many telegrams have been received at the executive office opposing it Many of the Senators and Representa-tives say that they want the time in October to devote to their State campaigns, and at it would not be to their interests politito go to Washington at that It is, however, practically certain that the session will be called several weeks earlier than was originally intended. Secretary Shaw departed for Vermont and Secretary Hitchcock for New Hamp-shire, both via New York.

MORE TIME ON CANAL TREATY. Plan to Extend Limit for Ratification by

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14 .- It has been three weeks since any detailed information was received from Bogota regarding the canal treaty. This information, which was received by William Nelson Cromwell, counsel for the New Panama Canal Company. was to the effect that nine material amendments had been offered to the treaty, and that strong opposition was manifested against the convention in the Colombian Senate.

Representative Hepburn of Iowa, chairman of the Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce, to-day discussed with Acting Secretary of State Loomis the question of drawing up a protocol extending the time for exchange of ratifications of the canal treaty. The time within which ratifications may be exchanged expires on Sept. 22. There would be no difficulty whatever in extending this time by means of a protocol. The State Department has no fears on that score, but it does hear with regret of the proposition to amend the treaty. That, in the opinion of Department officials, is equivalent to rejecting it.

Immigrants, on Sanltary Grounds From Coming There.

EL Paso, Tex., Aug. 14. Despatches from Mexican official sources to-day confirm the report that an order has been issued to prohibit Chinese immigrants from landing at the western coast towns along the Gulf of California. There being no law for the exclusion of the Chinese on account of their race, they are prevented from landing owing to their unsanitary condition, to prevent the spread of contagious diseases. During the last six months many ship. loads of Chinese have been landed at Guavmas. Sonora. Some of the ships now on the seas contain as many as 600 Chinese each who cannot land. The companies as a consequence, will lose heavily.

The general order is soon to be issued preventing Chinese from being brought to Mexico in bond by the railroads.

BOY AND GIRL TWICE WED. Parents Separated Them the First Time. They Were So Young.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Aug. 14. - Willard Steiger of this city has won a bride for the second time through trials and tribulations. In January, 1902, when he was 16 years old and a student at the Syracuse High School, he fell in love with Edna May Conway, aged 15, and was married to her secretly fearing the objections of parents on account of their youth and the fact that the Conways are Catholics and the Steigers

Lutherans.
It was not long before the marriage was known and the children were sepa rated by their angry parents. Young Steiger was put to work as a clerk in the railroad yards at East Syracuse and told that if he behaved himself and saved up money he might have the girl when he was old enough.

He buckled in like a beaver and saved every cent he could. Yesterday the couple were married over again with the consent of the parents of each.

It was reported that Mr. Mason was making an investigation of the bank's affairs, and the report spreading, a number of depositors withdrew their cash. Thinking that there might be a run on the bank, Enoch L. Cowart, the cashier, went to New York, and it was said that he returned with $100,000 to satisfy the possible demands of the depositors. It is said that the bank has done a large business, considering the amount of its capital stock and deposits, and that most of the time it needed a sum of money larger than it had on hand to meet borrowers

Bank Examiner Mason said to-night: " might say that for months past the condi-tion of the Navesink National Bank has wen unsatisfactory to the Comptroller of the Currency. Its business has been too much extended and its cash reserve has been much below the required amount

"Acting under instructions from the Comptroller of the Currency, I came to Red Bank in the capacity of special bank examiner on Monday of this week.

"To make a long story short the case was readily diagnosed, but the remedy was not so easily prescribed. For a while a plan of reorganization and rehabilitation lent much encouragement. The heroic efforts on the part of some of Red Bank's best citizens to save the institution were particularly gratifying. Later, other complications set in and caused a run that resulted in the withdrawal of moral and financial support to such an extent that the Government had to take possession When asked whether the depositors would receive their money, the examiner said that he was not prepared to answer. Corbett's Seconds Throw Up Sponge in 10th Round.

LOSER SEVERELY PUNISHED.

Record Crowd to See the Championship Struggle.

Champion Clearly Outclasses His Opponent as a Boxer and Fighter-Corbett First Knocked Down in the Fourth

Round and Has No Chance Afterward. SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 14.-Jim Jeffries clearly proved his title to the heavyweight championship to-night, when he forced the seconds of James J. Corbett to throw up the sponge while he was being counted out in the tenth round of the battle, at

Mechanics' Pavilion. From the first clang of the bell there was no doubt of the outcome. The champion not only showed his well-known ability as a fighter, but he surprised the vast throng at the ringside by his cleverness

The blow which finally settled Corbett's aspirations to the championship was a fearful one in the stomach, delivered with such force that Corbett reeled to the floor. He was retching and vomiting and in terrible distress from the effect of the beating administered by Jeffries.

down before the sledge-hammer blows of his adversary. In the ninth round, Corbett rallied and for the first time delivered more blows than did Jeffries.

The final round was a fierce one from the start. Jeffries's blows had more force than ever and Corbett was sent to the floor to respond to the call of time. As one of the best fight towns in the country San Francisco has seen some great battles, as those between Fitz and Sharkey, Jeffries and Ruhlin, Jeffries and Fitz. Young Corbett and Terry McGoern But the throng that greeted Jeffries a d Corbett to-night surpassed in numbers and enthusiasm any that was ever gathered trgether for any sporting event in this country.

The great Mechanics' Pavilion as arranged for the fight to-night holds 8,000 persons, but at least 3,000 more were wedged into the gallery and into additional seats that had been built at the rear of the hall to accommodate a pressing demard for more seats.

The gate money was $50,000 for regular sales, with at least $10,000 additional for premiums paid by late-comers. This beats all records for fight houses in San Francisco, the largest previous house being $32,000, when Jeffries met Fitz last year. Box seats sold for $20, $15 and $10 and arena seats ranged from $7.50 to $5, with $3 for general admission to the gallery. Many sports who were very late paid as high as $40 for box seats, and no seats were sold to-day without premiums.

The Mechanics' Pavilion, where the fight was held, is a huge barnlike structure which occupies half a block on Larkin street, facing the City Hall. The two ends have been closed in with boards, leaving an enormous hall with lofty vaulted ceiling In the centre of this hall, raised about six feet from the floor, was the 24-foot ring. train with 200 passengers aboard. For-Above it were arranged, in the form of a tunately nobody was hurt and the fire square, twelve powerful electric lights that certainly discounted the poet's "Fierce light that beats upon a throne." By lowering the lights in other parts of the house this threw the ring into as great prominence as a stage under a most powerful calcium. In the first row about the ring were seats for the representatives of the press and the telegraph operators, while immediately back of these were sports.

Every seat in the large arena was occupied and long before the doors opened thousands of sports gathered, eager to get in. The gallery was soon congested and filled almost to the danger point. Many of the more venturesome were perched on overhanging beams and work of Jim Dollard, who attempted to also early on the scene and at 8:15 o'clock Special trains from cities near and beyond over the head with a board and died this the Rockies arrived in the afternoon, bringing a large army of sports. celebrities. Before themen entered the ring reports of their condition were rife. Cornet's friends extolled his training and said Some of the Jeffries adherents tried to belittle his preparation and there were many rumors that he was not in the best of shape. But they were all run to earth and at the last moment it was said that the brawny boilermaker was fit to battle for a king's

The fight in itself was regarded as one of the most important in years. They met for 70 per cent, of the gross receipts. Of this sum 65 per cent, went to the winner and the remaining 35 per cent, to the loser The limit of the battle was twenty rounds and it was decided under straight Marquis of Queensberry rules. Jeffries's weight was announced as 225 pounds, while Corbett scaled 185 pounds.
